CHICAGO, March 3.—There was nothing in the news to-day regarding wheat to encourage any change in price.

Chicago received 10,000 bushels of wheat and the market ruled dull within a narrow range.

Mid and rainy weather, to be followed by a cold wave, together with independent strength of the foreign markets, made up the items of information from which traders imbibed the slight dejection of bullish spirits that was indicated by a 1/2 cent advance in the price of May wheat at the start.

Local speculators did very little and local receipts were liberal, but the dipper point as business ever gets.
